Your Future Starts Here

HealthAchieve is more than an annual conference and trade show. It’s an agent of change that drives the evolution of the health care system by focusing on the future. And it’s the perfect opportunity for future leaders like you to join together with some of the best and brightest leaders in health care.

As part of our commitment to the future leaders of health care, we are pleased to offer attendance to HealthAchieve for all full-time university and college students at the nominal rate of just $40. This entitles students to attend both days of the event and access all educational sessions (except ticketed events) and HealthAchieve’s award-winning exhibit floor.

The best way to drive change is to be inspired by those who already are.

Allison Massari is a motivational speaker and patient and health care advocate who will share her courageous journey from absolute loss to a triumphant, hope-filled life, and inspire you to find a way to always be the healer in the room with her life-changing message.

Jesse Hirsh is a futurist and digital strategist who will show you how to harness the power of social media for professional development while protecting yourself and your organization from the very real risks of phishing and ransomware.

Laura Adams, President and CEO of the Rhode Island Quality Institute, will explain why collaboration is the best way to address the problems in the health care system, and explore the guiding principles needed to create a delivery system worthy of a patient’s trust.

Learn more at healthachieve.com

Join Speed Mentorship with Leaders in Health Care

In this high-impact, structured speed mentorship session, participants will learn from various health experts and industry leaders, while taking the opportunity to network with fellow health professionals.